ISO Certification in New Zealand

Improve your New Zealand organisation's reputation and performance with an internationally recognised certification

Kiwi Certification has been a dedicated provider of globally recognised certifications to businesses all over New Zealand for over a decade. Our certifications help organise your business in terms of environmental management systems, quality management systems, and OHS management systems to enhance your reputation and optimise your performance.

Kiwi Certification provides world class certifications:

ISO9001:2015, ISO14001:2015, AS/NZS4801:2001 and OHSAS18001:2007 are internationally recognised standards to which any organisation can get certified. Besides the immediate benefits that your organisation will experience from better control over its processes and generally a better performance, this also provides your clients and other stakeholders with confidence that they are dealing with a reliable organisation.
